with a knowledge of exact conditions the people were likely to make a more satisfactory response to appeals for participation. The confident hope is entertained that with aggressive work in the next five days it will be possible to get the needed $700,000,000.

The Liberty Loan Committee for the New York Federal Reserve District had expected to make public the total of subscriptions received here, but at the request of Secretary McAdoo contented itself to give out yesterday only figures

for all the territory excepting New York

City. There has been allotted for the New York district, which includes part of New Jersey and Connecticut, the sum of $1,000,000,000, or one-half of the loan, and of this New York City is expected to take $717,000,000, the remainder of the district $283,000,000. It was said yesterday that to date the city had not made up its full share, although it was close to it. Of the $283,000,000 expected from other parts of New York State, twelve counties in New Jersey, and one county in Connecticut, the subscriptions received aggregate only about $50,000,-000, or approximately 18 per cent. of the allotment. The Liberty Loan Committee announced yesterday that permission to report individual subscriptions, had been obtained from Washington and that hereafter lists would be given out. The subscriptions announced yesterday were for the most part those previously noted in the newspapers. Among the new ones were:

The National Bank of Commerce reported at the close of business yesterday it had received subscriptions totaling $43,000,000. It was stated at the bank that Secretary McAdoo's announcement showing that the loan had not been fully subscribed brought about the largest number of small subscriptions of any day during the campaign. Guy Emerson, Secretary of the Liberty Loan Publicity Committee, said that a big step forward had been taken in the campaign through the announcement of subscription figures. He said: "It is almost a universal rule in dealing with the American public that no harm is done by putting the cards on the table. The totals are now known, cult campaigns of education ever undertaken in the world. The American people are not a bond-buying people. They have been asked to take two billion dollars in bonds in a little over thirty days. It has been necessary to teach them what a bond is. In addition to this, we have had to sell bonds to the public not yet awake to the realities of war. The fighting is 3,000 miles away. Our men are not yet in the trenches. There have been no Zeppelins or casualty lists to loosen the purse-strings of the public. In the early stages of the campaign it was necessary, as far as possible, to American people, the fact that the United States is worth $250,000,000,000, accentuated by the prosperity of the last few years, made it necessary to impress on the average man and woman that his or her $50 bond would really help the result. Consequently, in our educational campaign emphasis has been laid on the small subscriber and on numbers of loan.

The Henry McCaddin, Jr., Fund for the education of candidates for the Roman Catholic priesthood in poorer dioceses of the United States and elsewhere has subscribed for $125,000 of Liberty bonds. The Hotel St. Regis reported that one of its guests. Francis Kleinberger, a dealer in ancient pictures, had presented every employe of the hotel with a $50 bond. The hotel management said that in making the gift Mr. Kleinberger desired to help his country and at the same time give the hotel employes a handsome tip.

Subscriptions to the Liberty Loan amounting to $500,000 were received yesterday afternoon from several hundred persons who attended a meeting under the auspices of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee at Hempstead House, the home of Daniel Guggenheim in Port Lefferson It was also appounced. in Port Jefferson. It was also announced that all of the servants at Hempstead House had subscribed for bonds.

The Metropolitan Musical Bureau to-day closed its week of Liberty Bond sell-ing on blanks printed in The New York TIMES, with Mischa Elman and other well known singers on duty. During the week, the salesrooms were open from 3 to 5 each afternoon and forty-three different subscriptions were taken.
